Callan Opposes Daly City Move On Broadmoor

Representatives of Broadmoor, Garden Village and Sterling Park again voiced approval of a survey on annexation of their communities to Daly City during a stormy meeting of the Broadmoor Property Owners last week.

The comparatively smooth session exploded into an uproar when Supervisor Tom Callan, North County Sanitation District board member, appeared to dispute the annexation. He opposed the transmission line from the McKee tract, claiming that Broadmoor people would be paying the costs. Callan also charged Daly City with laxity on sewage problems, and cited the "still unsolved" flood situation on San Pedro road.

City Manager Howard Stites and Councilman Paul Hupf rebutted Callan's remarks by telling the owners that Daly City's annexation proposals "would be equitable for both parties."

Hupf countered Callan with the charge that the latter was not impartial because he owned property in the area. Callan angrily denied the allegation, maintaining he was only interested in defining the correct issues.

Callan recently backed ousted sanitary board member Sanford Vickers in disapproving annexation terms including the $25 per lot fee to pay the costs of the McKee line. Both believe the fee is not enough and that further study and approval by county officials is necessary.

Agreement on a five-man committee, made up of two Daly City representatives and one each from

WILSON HEADS SEWER DISTRICT -- CALLAN RESIGNS

In the midst of turmoil between the city council and the North San Mateo County Sanitation District, Supervisor Thomas Callan Sr. Monday resigned his position as chairman of the sanitation district board, turning the position over to Del Wilson, city councilman and director.

Wilson was among the four councilmen who voted last week to remove Councilman Sanford Vickers from his position on the sanitation board for "delaying" annexation of the 276-acre McKee tract.

Vickers' dismissal still appeared up in the air, since he took part in Monday's sanitation board meeting in an official capacity.

Callan has sided with Vickers in the heated argument over annexation of the McKee lands to the sanitation district. They both hold that McKee should pay cost of installing a transmission line from the McKee subdivision off Skyline to 87th and Washington.

"Failure to Conform"
The council voted to oust Vickers last week for "delaying" and "failure to conform to council policy." The council has already approved annexation of the sub-

Broadmoor Sergeant Quits Post

Broadmoor lost one-fifth of its police force Tuesday with the resignation of their only sergeant, Gale Galusha.

Galusha, a member of the force for five years, quit reportedly because of new rules governing outside employment passed by the Broadmoor police commission last week.

The new regulations do not permit an officer to take outside employment, except during his two days off.

Galusha had been working on his off hours in a shop owned by one of the Broadmoor police reservists. He submitted his resignation at a special meeting of the commission Tuesday.

Another ruling passed by the commission which is expected to meet with dis-favor prohibits offi-

LIBRARY COMMISSION DISCOVERS SELF WITH TWO EXTRA MEMBERS

Mixup over term expiration dates today revealed the possibility that the library commission may be overburdened with two extra members.

According to former Chairman Wayne Carr, both his and Mrs. Margo Westgaard's terms do not end until September of next year. The city council, believing that the terms had expired, named two replacements on September 5.

To add to the confusion, City Manager Howard Stites said today that appointments to the library board were made without designation as to specific post. Because Mrs. Jane Keith resigned her position, three new board members, Mrs. Grace Woods, Frank De Martini and Francis Pacelli, were announced.

Thus, which two appointees replace Carr and Mrs. Westgaard is not known.

Furthermore, City Manager Stites contends that Carr and Mrs. Westgaard were never reappointed to the board. He added, however, that he plans to make a thorough check of the minutes to confirm this statement.

On the other hand, Carr said today that he and Mrs. Westgaard were appointed in September of 1952 for two-year terms and reappointed in 1954 for three-year terms.

When asked whether he would resign his office if records show him to be correct, Carr replied, "I haven't even thought about it. I only wanted clarification."

Mrs. Westgaard was unable to be reached for comment.

County planning commission's denial of the Daly City Scavenger company's dump application was today labeled "pre-determined" and "unfair" by scavenger and city officials.

The decision will be appealed to the board of supervisors and "to the courts if necessary," Scavenger Attorney Conrad Reich said today.

Planners voted Wednesday to turn down the scavengers' request to establish a fill and cover dump on the Bernardi ranch in Pedro Valley. In making his motion, Commissioner Leslie Nichols recommended that Daly City join the South San Francisco bay reclamation project.

"The chairman said they only wanted to hear merits of the Bernardi site, and then they end by advising the firm to go to South San Francisco," Reich said today. "We should have been given an opportunity to talk on the South San Francisco site."

Already Decided?
Scavenger President Al Sereni also claimed that the planners ignored arguments in favor of the Bernardi site. Sereni strongly hinted that commissioners had already made their decision before the public hearing.

Agreeing with Sereni was Daly City Councilman Del Wilson, who Wednesday night told the council "I have my idea what it's all about."

"The planners didn't pay any attention to County Health Engineer Eugene Howell or to Consultant W. C. O'Connell, but just turned it down," Wilson declared.

He also lambasted Supervisor Chairman Thomas Callan, saying "Callan didn't give much representation for the north end—as usual."

Strongest argument in favor of the Bernardi site came from sanitation expert Howell, who disputed claims by the ten coastside organizations who opposed the dump.

"Plan For Dumps"
"We've heard a lot about planning for schools and buildings," Howell told the commission, "but it's necessary to plan for dump sites too."

He continued by disputing claims that the Bernardi dump would

Elementary Board Mulls New Policy

Jefferson Elementary school District trustees met in an informal session last night to consider changes in the district's administrative code.

Topping their recommendations was proposed rewriting of the district code to specify that teachers should be encouraged to participate in political affairs outside of school hours. The trustees feel that although discussion of politics during school hours is prohibited, too many teachers shy away from the field in their spare hours due to the restrictions.

The trustees also approved their current twice-monthly regular meeting schedule on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month. They preferred a 4 p.m. deadline on Fridays preceding the meetings for the submission of items on the agenda. All other matters submitted late would be considered for the agenda at the discretion of the superintendent. The board also confirmed maintaining the 11 to 11:30 period for hearing guests at their regular meetings.

The trustees agreed to consult the district attorney for an opinion of the matter of mandatory tuberculosis X-rays each year for all district teachers. Under state law, several teachers are exempt for the checkups due to religious waivers. The trustees believe that all teaching applicants should consent to X-rays in order to safeguard the health of the district's children.

Superintendent H. Z. Weibel said the revised policy handbook would be submitted to the board of trustees for official approval after the group completes studies of other districts' codes.

Parking Fund Looms As Hot Issue Monday

Establishment of an off-street parking fund promises to be a hot issue before the city council next Monday night, and Mayor Joseph Verducci, absent from Wednesday night's study sessions, apparently holds the pivotal vote.

Councilman Sanford Vickers reiterated his earlier suggestion this week that the ordinance governing parking meter revenue be restored to its original form—to provide a separate fund which would be used to pay for off-street parking.

Citing the city's "obligation to the people," Vickers pointed out that in September, 1950, the ordinance was passed providing for the special fund. Six months later, in May, 1951, the clause setting up the special fund was amended, he continued.

"I think we should keep our promise to the people," he declared. Councilman Del Wilson said he "felt the same way."

But councilman Paul Hupf announced himself as "against earmarking the money for one fund." He asked, "What is the proposal for use of the fund? Are we going to spend $100.00 or $200,000 a year without the business people paying anything? Unless there is a definite program, I'm opposed to this."

Vickers termed lack of an off-street parking fund "an injustice to the merchants," but Hupf countered, "Why is it an injustice? The merchants don't pay for the meters?"

Hupf again declared his opposition, starting that, "It would be premature to rescind that section of the ordinance now."

"I can see a host of problems that are more important. If we offer off-street parking on the 'top of the hill' now, the merchants on lower Mission are going to ask for

City Delays Stand On Overtime Pay

Matter of overtime pay for all city employees was held over for further study Wednesday night at the regular meeting of the city personnel board.

The issue will be ironed out at the October 2 meeting of the group, according to F. F. Avilez, city administrative assistant.

The board approved a motion that no full-time city employee could hold down a full-time outside job at the same time. It also ruled that part-time employees are not eligible for paid vacations unless they work a minimum 40-hour week.

The board held that all applicants for jobs specifying a minimum requirement of a high school diploma could not substitute the equivalent of a GED test in order to qualify.

Eligibility lists of nine applicants for maintenance jobs and three for clerk typists openings were announced at the meeting. The city will open examinations within the next 30 days for clerk typists, engineering aides and fire equipment operators.

Regular monthly meetings of the personnel board will be held the first Tuesday of each month beginning with the October 2 session.

Walton's Home Grows Like Topsy In One Day

What happens when a community takes a project to its heart was demonstrated Saturday on a 25x50 foot lot at 108 Knowles avenue in Daly City.

Literally before the eyes of passers-by a neat, redwood frame house took shape within a few short hours. The home is being built, financed and furnished by labor, material and service donations and financial contributions from local residents.

Recipient of Daly City's warm-hearted efforts are Mr. and Mrs. James Walton and their five children, left homeless last May by a fire which completely destroyed their modest house.

Local insurance agent Pete Markovich saw the family's plight and thought something should be done to help the Waltons.

He wasn't alone. Merchants, professional and business people, housewives, laborers and craftsmen all rallied to the cause.

The project took on more tangible shape Saturday when some 17 workmen, starting in the morning with a bare foundation, swarmed busily over the property and the entire shell of the structure completed by that afternoon.

A lot of work remains to be done but the Waltons, plagued by sickness and hardship, won't have to worry about where the labor or the final furnishings are coming from. It's all taken care of.

This next weekend the rough plumbing will be installed. The following week Markovich says

COPS WARN PARENTS ON BICYCLE THEFTS

Daly City police this week issued a reminder to parents on the heavy wave of bicycle thefts in this area.

Approximately 50 bikes have been recovered by local police and remain unclaimed in the City Hall building.

Patrolman Jim Welsh warns parents that bicycle thefts should be reported immediately. He also urges owners to make sure they know their serial numbers and to keep bikes locked to prevent theft.

Welsh indicated that several persons who have lost bikes were unable to recover them because they failed to provide sufficient information.

Hupf charged that Vickers had "no idea of the cost of this proposal. You're asking something that we may not want to commit ourselves to now."
Vickers answered that, "We'll vote on it Monday."

division to the city but failure of the sanitation district to take in the property could hold up the transaction.

Vickers' status as a member of the sanitation board became more confused Monday when Wilson suggested that Vickers, instead of himself, assume the chairmanship of the sanitation board. Wilson seconded the motion last week to remove Vickers from the sanitation district.

Wilson told his two fellow directors Monday that Vickers should have "he's worked hard and is too good of a man to be off the board."

Attorney James Morton said Vickers could not take the chairmanship, since he was already secretary of the board.

Still On Board

City Attorney Frank Blum said this week that although the council voted to remove Vickers from the sanitation board, he would still hold his position until the council passed a resolution confirming their action.

George McKeon and his engineer, Ted Tronoff, were present at Monday's sanitation board meeting to further discuss the controversial sewage transmission line.

Vickers and Callan remained firm in their contention that further costs surveys should be undertaken before the annexation was approved. Vickers also argued that McKeon had never presented the district with maps of his subdivision.

McKeon said he would obtain more information on cost of transmission lines and would furnish more data on his subdivision, all of which he promised to turn over to the board as soon as possible. No formal action on the annexation was taken, however.

Merchants Rally To Crusade

Business men in every part of the city responded Tuesday to the United Crusade organizational meeting at Westlake clubhouse. Spearheading the commercial and industrial section of the local drive is Dennis Franco, chairman, while the city chairmanship is held by Howard Stites.

Highlight of the forthcoming drive will be the complimentary kickoff breakfast which will be held Tuesday morning, October 2, at 7:30 a.m. at the clubhouse in Westlake park. The affair will honor all workers in this division and welcome new volunteers.

Jack Patridge, director of business division, San Mateo, gave a general outline of the campaign in Daly City and Colma with emphasis on the importance of the various health and welfare agencies, and the necessity for action in behalf of our community. "Public apathy from time to time has resulted in communities failing their responsibilities but the interest shown by the large turnout of men here is unusual," he said. Jay Irick distributed sign-up sheets and Franco called for reports of the five teams active.

Stites spoke briefly on the importance of a complete quota of workers eliminating hard work for a few. "We are seeking more volunteers from our local business and industry and am sure these men of integrity will respond and assist in maintaining and preserving the various institutions which need and deserve our support," Stites related.

The following teams were organized: Dist. 1—Joe Lewkowicz, Capt. Joe Rohl, Lieut.; Dist. 2—Parks T. Harris, Capt. Michael De Bernardi, Lieut.; Dist. 3—Jay Irick, Dist. Chairman, Alfred Belotz, Michael J. Kack; Dist. 4—Art Colvin, Capt., Bill Dias, Floyd Scruggs and Harold Parsley; Dist. 5—Vincent Murphy, Capt., Peter Bogdan, Lieut., Huston Holmgren, Lewis Galli, Ray Logan, Walter McCrae and John Putkey. The Colma group under John Ferrari was not complete.

WALTON NEIGHBORS FILE $621 CLAIM VS. DC FOR DAMAGE

Claim of $621 has been filed against the city of Daly City for fire damage allegedly done to an adjacent home when city firemen burned down the remains of the James Walton home, 108 Knowles avenue, on June 19.

Albert P. Brush, 101 Los Banos avenue, filed the claim, charging the city with negligence in the demolition of the home.

The Walton home was practically destroyed by fire a month earlier.

At study session Wednesday night, City Manager Howard Stites termed the action of the fire department, "very bad practice."

"In the future," he said, "Under no circumstances should firemen enter private property to burn down remains of a home. We have no right to take public equipment for this."

Hilltop Cab Seeks Extra Cab Permit

Request by Hilltop Cab for seven taxi cab permits, one more than the firm now has, will be considered by the city council Monday night.

At Wednesday night's study session City Manager Howard Stites revealed that the records do not show the cab company was ever granted any permits.

The manager added that in January, 1956, the firm received one extra permit, bringing their total to six. "We shouldn't have increased the number from five to six without the council's approval," he said.

"If he's been operating six, we should go along with that," said Councilman Sanford Vickers. Taxi cab permits are subject to renewal each year.

Other matters considered Wednesday night will be on Monday's regular meeting agenda included:

1. Request by City Clerk Evelyn Mosman that the council establish a charge for providing copies of city ordinances.

2. Informal application from Silva's Ambulance Service of San Bruno to provide the city with free ambulance service, which would replace the service now provided by the police department. Councilmen ruled that Robert Silva, operator of the service, should appear before them to outline his proposal more thoroughly.

3. Recommendation of planning commission to grant W. F. Petersen & Company permit to operate a super market in the old Daly City Theater building on Mission at Flournoy, recommendation from planners that Westlake Unit 3-B, comprised of five lots on South Mayfair avenue north of Fairway drive, be approved.

DC Youth Handed Year Jail Term On Narcotics Count

William Albert Brandt, 20-year-old Daly City youth arrested April 24 by federal agents on two felony narcotics counts, was sentenced to one year in the county jail and two years probation in Superior Judge Orla St. Clair's court yesterday.

Originally charged with possession and transportation of narcotics, Brandt pleaded guilty to the first count in July and the second charge was dropped.

The comparatively stiff sentence came after numerous continuances and delays in the case, which saw young Brandt appear in court at least a dozen times.

At the time of his arrest in San Francisco, federal authorities found two marijuana cigarettes in Brandt's possession.

Case of John W. Penn, a 28-year-old San Francisco lumper arrested here on four counts last Saturday, has been continued for hearing October 4 in municipal court.

Penn, 3411 Alemany boulevard, was booked on charges of participating in a speed contest failure to stop for an arterial, no registration on his car and failure to sign a citation.

Penn was picked up after officers spotted him in a two-car race on Mission street. He admitted his part in a racing duel with another car, but was belligerent when officers asked for his registration card and issued the citation.

Penn reversed his original claim that arresting officers took $50 from him when he appeared in municipal court today.

Sewer Repair Costs Held District Burden Past Property Line

Protest against residents having to pay for sewer repairs beyond their own property line was lodged before the city council Wednesday by Thomas Tromborg, planning commissioner and local plumber.

Tromborg declared that in the past anything beyond the curb line was the city's responsibility. "Now the last word I get is that the sanitation district says the property owner is responsible from the trunk line to his property line. I'm not in favor of this. That's a public thoroughfare and I don't think the property owner is responsible."

Councilman Sanford Vickers suggested Tromborg appear before the next meeting of the North San Mateo County Sanitation district to "iron this out."

Let Merchants Name Own Parking Hours, Bar Owner Suggests

A plan whereby merchants in specific areas designate by request the time limits for parking was broached to the city council Wednesday night by George Kirchhubel, local tavern owner.

Kirchhubel asked the council if they would react favorably to a petition from merchants in certain districts asking for two-hour parking meters.

Councilmen maintained that they could not give an answer until the petition was submitted, to which Kirchhubel replied, "Why should I waste my efforts to get a petition if the council is going to turn thumbs down?"

Said Councilman Paul Hupf, "I have no opinion until I see the area proposed and the reasons for the request."

Kirchhubel charged that, "You make statements without even knowing what you're talking about."

Councilman Sanford Vickers suggested that City Manager Howard Stites look into cost of hiring a traffic consultant to survey the city's entire parking needs. "Nobody is happy about it the way it is now," he said, "proved positive."

Czaphay posted $500 cash bail and will appear in South San Francisco municipal court next Thursday.

THE STUFF A CITY IS MADE OF

Last week some 17 workmen rolled up their shirt sleeves and hammered and sawed away on initial construction of a new home for James Walton and his family at 108 Knowles avenue.

Some of these men probably didn't even know James Walton—an ex caddy-master whose family had been beset by illness and hardship and whose most recent calamity occurred in May when his home was burnt to the ground.

But the workmen were there to donate their leisure time and add to the windfall of labors, materials and services that had been contributed by other members of the community who had felt compassion for the stricken family.

Many of the merchants, profession and business people and individual citizens probably didn't know James Walton either.

But when a member of their community needed help, they all stepped forward to offer their's without hope of recompense or recognition.

There are hundreds of good charities which are sometimes neglected by the average individual because of the seeming remoteness of the benefits to the individual donor. He does not see these good works, and therefore is not as fully aware of the financial needs.

But Daly City residents and business people demonstrated in the James Walton drive that this city need take a back seat to none in the humanity department.

There was a job to do and the community rallied unselfishly to the cause.

The James Walton drive shows the stuff a good community is made of.

Two For Tonight

By Leonore Browne

It's been a couple of years since the San Francisco Opera Company considerably opened its season on a Tuesday. We say considerably, because that gave the weekly columnist lucky enough to have an understanding editor who would hold her space for her, time to whip up a few paragraphs which would be read at the same time as the metropolitan dailies. This gave everyone concerned the feeling of being in the swim.

This year, it opened on a Thursday, so by the time you read this column, nothing could be more remote. Except maybe Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee.

Hundreds of column inches have been devoted to the big event, leaving this writer very little to say except that we were conscious more than ever before of the two divergent attitudes taken by those writing of the spectacular of the year.

Familiar Line

There was the familiar "oh, my dear, it was simply divine!" There was champagne by the bucketful, the gowns were magnificent, gorgeous, breathtaking, and the women—they were dripping, simply dripping with jewels! Everyone who was anyone was there! In this approach the exclamation points are tossed about with gay abandon.

If you are naive and easily impressed, you love it. It doesn't really matter whether or not you were there. You find a vicarious pleasure in reading of the doings of the great and would-be-great. (If you didn't, this sort of thing wouldn't appear in the papers). After you read a few hundred inches of this, a slight amount might even have rubbed off on you, if you had been a member of the audience.

Different Approach

Here and there was an approach diametrically opposed to the above. Rather than further inflate the overblown egos of some opening nighters, a few writers devoted their inches to cutting them down. The end result was an unfortunate catering to feelings of resentment and envy harbored by some of those on the outside looking in, emotions even more widespread than naivete and gullibility, and considerably more dangerous.

Effusive babblings become tiresome, but they have one saving grace: between every third line or so the observant can occasionally catch a whimsical note that indicates that no one is taking it too seriously, least of all the writers.

Nothing can be said in favor of the vitriolic line. It indicates that a writer has lost the light touch so

RUNAWAY GIRL, 13, RETURNS; ORDERED TO JUVENILE HOME

A 13-year-old Daly City girl who ran away from home three weeks ago returned voluntarily Saturday and was sent to Hillcrest juvenile home.

Diana M. Klein called her father Saturday and asked to be picked up at Haight and Fillmore streets in San Francisco.

Murray Klein, 163 Miriam street, told police his daughter is an habitual runaway and they recommended she be turned over to juvenile authorities.

HARTLEY PRAISES DEMOCRATIC PARTY'S STATE PLATFORM

Chief Deputy District Attorney Howard Hartley, this week termed the Democratic state platform "one of the strongest and most forward looking platforms in the history of the party in California."

Hartley's statement was made upon his return from the Democratic State Convention in Sacramento, which he attended as the Democratic candidate for Assembly from the 25th District, and a delegate from San Mateo county.

He served on the Committee on Resolutions and the Committee on By-Laws for the Convention, and also assisted in writing the plank on Traffic Control and Highway Needs for the State platform.

Hartley termed this plank "of the greatest importance to San Mateo County," and said "fulfillment of the objectives and proposals as outlined for the development of highways and control of traffic in the rapidly expanding urban areas, such as San Mateo county, are essential to their continued growth and economic development."

'Caruso Of The Ferries' Title Belongs To Daly City Man

Say, oldtimers, remember the "Caruso of the Ferries?" If you lived in the Bay Area back in the roaring twenties, you haven't forgotten him.

We're talking about Richard T. "Dick" Hunter, 438 Crocker avenue, who was better known in his vaudeville days as the "Singing Deck Hand."

Hunter, an unassuming gent of 60 who works on Santa Fe's tugboats on San Francisco Bay, has drifted into obscurity with the passing of the years. But 30 years ago, his talented voice made him one of the most popular entertainers in this area.

Hero's Role

Dick's rise to fame came after a widely publicized incident while he was a deckhand on the ferryboat Eureka back in 1922. One morning a walking beam on the Eureka crashed into the lower deck and the 200 commuters aboard panicked. Hunter was credited with averting a major disaster by breaking out with a song that calmed the crowd's excitement and brought them back to their senses. The passengers soon forgot the danger and joined him in song. The Eureka limped back to a dock without a single casualty.

Hunter's daring feat spread like wildfire, making him a hero overnight. San Francisco newspapers flashed headlines lauding the "Deck Hand Caruso" for his effort.

Next came a break provided by Rueben B. Hale, founder of the Hale Bros. store chain. He had heard Hunter's fine tenor voice as a commuter and arranged for the husky youth to take singing lessons from Madame Rose Relda Cailleau. Dick's subsequent recital at the Palace Hotel was a show-stopper.

Rumors were he'd next be sponsored for a tour of Europe to study voice, but no offers materialized. It was then that Hunter realized his singing was destined for pleasure and not fortune.

Double Duty

Dick kept his job on the Sausa-lito ferries and doubled up with a steady schedule of stage, club and charity performances. The pay wasn't too much, Hunter admitted, but he was a "natural" and loved to be before the footlights.

Through the years the "Caruso of the Ferries" shared top billing on vaudeville cards throughout California. He also sang over radio, was featured in Fox movie-tone films, organized his own minstrel shows and rubbed elbows with all the greats in the trade.

Dick's popularity faded with the fall of vaudeville and the discontinuance of his beloved ferries. Today his singing is mostly confined to occasional performances at Masonic Lodge meetings and benefit shows. None of his enthusiasm as a showman has dwindled, however, and he's willing to oblige with a performance on request.

Video Offer

Recently Hunter met Don Sherwood, impresario of KPIX's "San Francisco Tonight" show. The young emcee was quite impressed with Hunter's background and invited him to appear on video in the near future.

It might be well keep your dial tuned for the event. Hunter still has the voice to hold an audience. And he's been waiting a long time to relive the memories of a colorful past.

cept for Rome, and much fun, knowledge and excitement all through. The group traveled by plane, train, bus, boat, donkey cart, and one short ox cart trip for Corinne to catch up with her bus. Though a great deal of area, and many countries, was covered in a short time, still Corinne felt that everyone had really assimilated the culture and aura of each place before leaving it. We hung up the phone feeling as though we had been along, too.

Summer Joy

Betty and Art Bullen and tribe of Village Lane had a busy summer, with trips sandwiched in between short stays at home. Trips included Yosemite for a week, two stays at Clear Lake, and two weeks at Betty's family's ranch in San Bernardino. There was time for a trip to Disneyland from there.

That fabulous "cabin" Mike Orlich is building at Tahoe is nearly finished, and the family took a vacation up that way between summer recreation programs and school time. Dorothy said they saw the Irvines, and that Eunice loves it up there. Seems the Orlichs will have plenty of company at Tahoe, since the Lairs, the Herrierias and the Roses all have summer places there.

While we're on Garden Lane with the Orlichs, we'd like to welcome a new family to "Faculty Row"—Edward and Winifred Morgan, and daughters Marilyn and Pamela. Ed is the superintendent of the high school district. And we must say goodbye to Bernardine and Roland Harding, who will be in Rio Vista.

This and That: The fact that they already owned one parakeet didn't keep Kay and Ray Logan from winning three more at the California State Fair; 90th Street is very noisy now! . . . Dr. George Warner, Thornhill's finest, is now an area district commissioner for all Boy Scouts and Cubs in the BV-Colma area. Congratulations!

Inez and Joe Sturla are living in SF instead of on Nimitz. . . . The Art Frish family are the ones who own that new shiny yellow Mercury parked on 89th Street. . . . Hilda Stettler is the one to call if you want to give a jewelry party. She's on Midway. Marge Lair, on MacArthur, has had one already. . . . 200 Garden Lane and 711 Maddux are both being given nice new shiny coats of green paint. . . . The Stockslagers on Ellis are painting too. . . . Our kitchen is halfway finished!

Melanie and Bob Fernekes and boys of Village Lane had a grand tour of a vacation, traveling 5000 miles in 20 days. They went to Salt Lake and visited with the Grant (ex-Foothillers) Holmans for three days in their new home, which has a beautiful view of Mt. Olympus. Then to Yellowstone Park, Logan Canyon and Glacier National Park on the US side, and over into Waterton Lakes National Park on the Canadian side, where they camped. The camping gear

A WORLD OF COLOR . . . Brilliant coral . . . bright yellow . . . royal blue . . . lovely girls gowned in all the hues of the rainbow flashed before our eyes as we watched a special NBC closed circuit colorcast, one of the largest in broadcasting history, heralding the debut of television's first practical "color kinescope" recording. Just why is this so important? What does it mean to you?

For the West Coast it means that major NBC network programs will be aired at convenient evening viewing hours. There will be at least one major color program every night, in addition to the spectaculars, and on some nights there will be as many as three straight hours of color programs over NBC and KRON-TV.

The colorcast originated live from NBC-TV's new color studio located in New York's famous Ziegfeld Theatre. Within three hours the program was recorded by the new process using lenticular film and flashed to the press and RCA dealers gatherings from San Diego to Seattle. As we watched we realized the tremendous strides the industry is making in the color field. The RCA-NBC development engineers began to work on color recording to defeat the time delay problem in December, 1953. In three years they have attained success because the color program had all the brilliancy of a live telecast. . . . Occasionally . . . during the closed circuit colorcast, they would change to black and white and the contrast was simply unbelievable. The black and white telecast seemed dull and almost lifeless. While with the colorcast, we felt as though the performers were on a stage in front of us.

Also during the telecast announcement was made of the colorcasts that NBC has already scheduled for the coming season. Some of the outstanding productions include: "Born Yesterday" starring Mary Martin and Paul Douglas, the incomparable team of Alfred Lunt and Lynne Fontanne in their recent Broadway success, "The Great Sebastians," the Sonja Heine Ice Show, the World Renowned Sadlers Wells Ballet of "Cinderella," the Anatole Litvak production of "Mayerling," starring Audrey Hepburn and Mel Ferrer, George Bernard Shaw's "Man and Superman," Sol Huroks "Festival of Music" presenting the greatest concert stars of our time, an original musical "Jack and the Beanstalk," and the great Broadway musical "High Button Shoes."

So if you haven't seen a colorcast we certainly recommend that you plan to view one of the coming productions. However, remember that these exciting telecasts will also be in black and white so you can receive them on your regular set. A program for every taste . . . for every age . . . and all in color!

12th Naval Band Sets Columbus Day Concert

One of the highlights of the Columbus Day Festival next month will be a concert by the 12th Naval District Band, according to Dan Casentini, president of the Italian American Federation.

The band will perform in front of the Peninsula Social Club at 3:30 p.m. on Sunday, October 14.

All members of the 35-piece band are graduates of the U. S. Naval School of Music in Washington D. C. Director of the colorful group is Chief Musician R. A. Gamble.

Lassen the last stop before home. They camped there, and met Judy and Stan Wilson and the four girls vacationing away from Maddux.

Margie Downey, Peg Vaughn, Harriet Hegerman, Ardye Dougherty and Susan Farley will be seeing a good deal of each other this winter. They are the latest members of the James L. Snell PTA chairman convalesce.

Once upon a time there was, and is, a cat named Diane, named for a hurricane. Currently, this remarkable feline is of the house of Surabian on Sweetwood. Feeling that the family needed more members, she presented Phyllis and John S. with seven nice new kittens, only Phyllis and John were away at Point Roberts, Washington, on vacation, so neighbor Chet Mattison had to take charge of the maternity ward! Anyone wanting a kitten may call the Surabians! Other notes of interest: another new family member is a black and yellow Chevrolet sedan, and Phyllis has a new job working for a dermatologist.

Something For Everyone

By The Staff of the Daly City Public Library

There are still some readers in Daly City who are not aware of the many fine magazines they may obtain through their two local outlets of the Daly City public library. Until just recently there were no magazine available at the new Westlake-Broadmoor branch library, but that situation has now been remedied. A conscious effort has been made to avoid needless duplication in the titles acquired at each library, so that the people of Daly City may have as wide a range as possible from which to select magazines.

Among the newer additions to the library's shelves are ARIZONA HIGHWAYS, an excellent pictorial publication of the Arizona Highway Department, which contains articles of interest to those who love the landscape and lore of the Southwest, as well as superb color illustrations; FORBES MAGAZINE, for those whose interests are business and investments; LIVING FOR YOUNG HOMEOWNERS, one of the more popular of the ever-prominent home magazines; PACIFIC DISCOVERY, published by the California Academy of Sciences and devoted to popular articles on both the physical and biological sciences; and THE WRITER, for those many people who are interested in writing as well as reading. All of these titles are available at the Westlake-Broadmoor branch.

For hobbyists, the library offers the following magazines: CRAFT HORIZONS and DESIGN, both of which appeal to artists and creative art hobbyists; FIELD AND STREAM, for the fisherman and hunter; HIGH-FIDELITY, for music lovers and "do-it-yourself" engineers; HOT ROD, a self-explanatory title; MODEL RAILROADER, for the many fans of this popular hobby; three old favorites — POPULAR PHOTOGRAPHY, POPULAR MECHANICS, and POPULAR SCIENCE; and YACHTING, a standard source for boating enthusiasts.

The children and young people have not been forgotten, either. For younger children, there are: THE AMERICAN GIRL, BOYS' LIFE, CHILDREN'S ACTIVITIES, JACK AND JILL, JUNIOR NATURAL HISTORY, and PLAYS. Teen-agers will be interested in many of the adult magazines, such as ASTOUNDING SCIENCE FICTION and SPORTS ILLUSTRATED, as well as those published for their special benefit: MADEMOISELLE and SEVENTEEN, primarily fashion magazines for young girls; YOUNG MEN and HOT ROD, for the boys.

These are only a few of the diversified titles available at one or

Drinking Party Shooting Spree Frustrates Cops

All's well that ends well. At any rate, Daly City police had to abide by the old saying this week after a local drinking spree almost ended in tragedy.

The gendarmes were summoned to the home of Bob Miller, 6 Bismark street, early Wednesday morning to investigate a shooting reported. When they arrived, they found three bullet holes near the front door, and a neighbor, Mrs. Margaret Katz, 6 Liebig street, sobbing hysterically.

Miller explained he fired the shots to scare away Abraham Katz, 20, when the latter returned to the Miller residence to get Mrs. Katz, who accompanied him to the Miller's for a party the night before.

Miller said the drinking bout ended about 4 a.m. and Katz left, leaving his wife. When he returned about an hour later and started to break down the door, Miller said he opened up with a .22 caliber rifle.

Fortunately for all concerned, the bullets went wide of their mark and no one was injured. Neither couple preferred to sign a complaint, either.

Police were a bit suspicious of the size of the weapon used. Holes made by the bullets seemed to have come from a .45, they estimated. But Miller denied this, maintaining he used the .22.

Mrs. Katz, who feared her husband would beat her, was taken to Junipero Serra hospital and later Community hospital for treatment of shock.

SLIGHTLY FEROCIOUS after getting dubious honors from his teammates is Vince Merio of Vince and Fred's bowling team.

Vince received a cake, wreath and a special placard from his buddies after posting his all-time low series (382) in opening action of the Daly City-Colma bowling league last week. He wasn't too happy, but promises to repent.

JEFF HI PLANS SPACE SURVEY

Jefferson High School district trustees Monday night approved a space adequacy survey of Jefferson-Westmoor plant as soon as possible to determine if the plant meets minimum state requirements for housing students. Should the district fail to meet the standards, it would be eligible for up to $12,000,000 in state loans over a period of several years.

Their action followed recommendation by members of the state division of school house planning who visited the school and expressed concern over its crowded facilities.

Superintendent Edward Morgan said Architect Mario Ciampi will participate in the survey with the school's fire marshal and state officials.

All available space in the school, housing 1176 Jefferson and 815 Westmoor students, is being utilized for classrooms.

Paul Rivers, head of the state division of school house planning, told trustees that in order to qualify for the state Chapter 19 funds the district would have to show that it's pupil housing was inadequate.

Jeff Scrimmages Westmoor As McGrath Tests Starters

Joe McGrath's Jefferson Indians, only 35-strong, intensified their practice sessions Thursday with a light scrimmage against Dutch Meyer's young Westmoor eleven.

McGrath sent his charges through a brief scrimmage Tuesday and began to line up his regulars for starting duty. Although having the smallest number of gridders in the league, Joe is confident his 14 returnees will give Jefferson a high spot in PAL standings.

The Indians are working with two units, which finds more than half of the starters going both on offense and defense.

As of this week, McGrath's offensive shapes up with Steve Canty and Tom Cloutier at ends, Jim Farley and George McNutt at tackles, Lou Arrighi and Rich Duncan at guards and Ron Moon at the center slot. His backfield four-man consists of quarterback Ed Leveroni, halves Sonny Martinez and Dave Callaway and fullback Lee Casentini. Cloutier, Duncan and Casentini are the only returning first-stringers.

Defensively the Indian starters are Del Scott and Cloutier at ends, Farley and Moon at tackles, and McNutt at middle guard. The linebackers are Niel Dunsford, Bill Riedstra and Canty. Paul Tapia and Dan Miceli are working at defensive halfbacks and Martinez, a speed merchant, will roam as safety.

McGrath's biggest switch of the week was assigning Moon to center duties and moving McNutt from guard to tackle.

The Indians are attempting to line up a practice scrimmage September 28. They open their PAL campaign October 5 at Burlingame.

DC Braves Suffer Double Setbacks

Daly City's light-hitting Braves took it on the chin twice last week, losing to Tufo Jewelers, 5-3, and Fisherman's Grotto, 8-3.

Jim Wilson was superb on the hill for the Braves in the Saturday setback, but didn't get enough plate support from his teammates. He fanned 14, walked four and gave up only five hits.

Dennis Draper got two hits for the losers, and Lou Bevelou, Kelly Oliveras and Wilson collected singles.

Dick Geno was yanked in the first inning of the Sunday battle after he walked four batters and yielded three runs. Oliveras and Wilson relieved in that order.

Larry Kane and Oliveras got the only hits off the Grotto men.

The Braves management this week extended thanks to local merchants sponsoring the club. These are Dolan Building Supply, Do-Drop-In, Gigli Plumbing, Donahue DeSoto-Plymouth, Hilltop Cab, 101 Club, Battye-Panella-Carusi's, McGraw Bros., Mario's Flying A, Aero Motors, Mel Donohoe Dodge-Plymouth, A. L. Stockton Lumber, Bud's Liquors, Conci's Shell Service, W. C. Lasswell Co. and R. A. Lillo Union 76.

The Braves play three games this weekend. They face Pomona Tile at Funston tomorrow night, meet Moore's Cafeteria at Balboa Saturday at 2 o'clock and collide with the Grotto men again Sunday afternoon at San Anselmo Memorial Park.

quate. A second requirement, he added, is that the district must be bonded to 90 per cent of the legal maximum of five per cent of total assessed valuation.

Rivers explained the repayment system set up by the state, which calls for a 30-year loan on which interest stops after 25 years. The loan for school sites is paid back at 1/30th of the purchase price per year.

The state official suggested that trustees obtain all future subdivision plans to incorporate in the district's five-year projected needs. Site needs must be projected over five years, based on current enrollment in grades 5 through 8, while building needs are tabulated four years in advance for the same grade levels.

In pointing out that nearly all state schools are now seeking aid of Chapter 19 funds, Rivers revealed that three new high schools will have to be built in California each month over the next five years to meet anticipated population.

Local Welder Posts Bail On Drunk Arrest

A 23-year-old Daly City welder posted $25 cash bail Sunday following his arrest here on a drunk count.

Police found Santiago Vallejo, 694 Templeton avenue, sprawled in a doorway at Mission and Goethe streets in the wee hours of the morning.

He is scheduled to appear next Tuesday in municipal court.

New Pisa Juniors (Now Boys Club) Win Weekend Tilts

The Lowell Creighton managed Dante's New Pisa youngsters played in blue jeans and makeshift sweatshirts Saturday, and still held up Daly City's banner in the Mid Winter hardball league. Facing a tough Portola Cub pitcher, Johnny Rapp, they held the Cubs to six runs while scoring three, to come out better than last time out.

Rapp was sharp in the clutches, and fanned Daly City ace Tom McHugh twice with runners on base. Bill Hynes also flied out with the bases loaded, and the kids missed other chances to even it up.

Terry Christman pitched a six hitter, but a couple of miscues made the Cub hits count. He got better as the game moved on and when an error and a walk loaded the bases in the sixth, he pitched his way out without a tally.

Barry Krohn had a perfect day at bat and scored one run. Bill Ludwigen, Mike Kennedy and McHugh had the other hits. Vic Kulik played second base, Billy Hix was at short, and Mike Lanthier patrolled center field.

Larry Barret Tires, formerly St. Cecilia's, took advantage of Mike Wall's early wildness to score a run in the first inning of Sunday's game at Marchbanks, but his teammates had their hitting clothes on and went on to push over 10 runs to win, 10-2.

Wall gave way to Ludwigen in the fourth, and Lanthier pitched the seventh with three up and three down. Krohn, Mike Kennedy, and McHugh each got two hits, and Hix, Mike Rovai, Wall, and Hynes got the others. Jim Kollmann played in right field. Kulik pitched an inning, and Lanthier made a beautiful play in center in the sixth. Joyce was on first and got a running start on Sonny Stollers clean hit to center, but Mike fielded it well, and threw to Rovai at third in time to get Joyce.

A new Sunday league will start next week with four teams, Larry Barret Tires, Johnny Shell Juniors, Podesta Nursery and Creighton's team, the Daly City Boys' Club. All players are under 14, and each team will play the other twice. The winner will face an all star team to close the season.
